

Truman Wins Nomination On Second Ballot
At Convention

By JACK BELL
Chicago, July 22 (AP)—The Democratic party called on a vigorous, practical politician today in Harry S. Truman of Missouri, its new vice presidential nominee, to carry the fight to the Republicans in a campaign for a fourth White House term for President Roosevelt.

The 60-year-old piano-thumping Senator, whose grin is kindled by wide blue eyes behind thick-lensed spectacles, beat Henry A. Wallace to the second place nomination in an eight-hour windup session of the Democratic National convention yesterday. With the job he inherited the task of conducting a campaign for which the President said he had little time.

Harmonious Pitch

Just as Mr. Roosevelt's selection for a fourth term was kept from being unanimous by 89 votes for Senator Harry F. Byrd and one for James A. Farley, so the nomination of the chunky chairman of the Senate's War Investigating committee went into the records with this count:

For Truman, 1,031; Wallace, 105; Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court, four; Governor Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, 26; Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, six; Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, one. Three of the 1,176 delegates were absent.

The vice presidential balloting, which began on a bitter note of strife between the CIO Political Action committee and the Big-City Democratic chieftains who have had a great deal to say about party affairs in the last 12 years, ended on a publicly harmonious pitch.

Dissent in Dixie

But there remained a note of Dixie dissent, perhaps most clearly expressed by Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee, who arose to complain that his state's 26 votes remained to the last recorded for Governor Cooper.

It was, admittedly, a test of strength between the adherents of Wallace, who had received a lukewarm endorsement from the President, and the men like Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago, national committeeman Edward J. Flynn of New York, and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, who like their policies uncomplicated.

The Kelly-Flynn-Hague combination, aided by Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, won in a see-saw battle that Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action committee, had predicted would find Wallace victorious.

Break on Second Ballot

The south, led by Oklahoma in the southwest which made the first break toward Truman, provided in a pinch the necessary votes to put the Missourian over after a first ballot on which Wallace, who remained in a downtown hotel, rolled up 429½ votes. Truman had 319½ on the initial count and the rest were divided between 14 also-rans.

Down on the sardine-packed floor of the convention, with sweating delegates mopping their brows around him, Senator Burrell Maybank of South Carolina told reporters: "We're going to anybody who can beat Wallace. We may support Truman on the next ballot."

The breaks came fast on the second roll call, and the futile din of galleries—some of whom were University of Chicago and Northwestern university students too young to vote—could not stem the tide for Wallace.

Tossed aside after a four-year Washington career of presiding over the Senate, attending cabinet sessions and directing foreign economic warfare until relieved by the President, the Iowa who will be vice president until next January, said:

"Of course," he would support the ticket.

CIO's Hillman told reporters: Truman's Plans

"It's a good ticket. We were for Wallace, but if we hadn't been for him, we would have been for Truman. He has a very good record."

Truman, who came up from a Missouri county judgeship 10 years ago when the Kansas City Pendergast organization cast about for a Senatorial candidate, told the convention that he was perfectly willing to undertake "the very great responsibility" it had bestowed upon him and to "continue the effort to shorten the war and win the peace under the leadership of our great President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Later, after most convention delegates had gone home, he told a press conference that he will resign immediately as chairman of the War Investigating committee, will hold on to his Senatorial post "until I am sworn in as vice president," will leave it up to "the commander in chief and the Democratic National committee" the part he will play in the campaign.

Shooting Victim

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Routsong-Dugan funeral home in Bendersville for 12-year-old Billy McCauslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. McCauslin, Aspers, fatally shot Wednesday as he played along a stream near his home. A coroner's jury Friday held the shooting was accidental and that a neighbor, Charles Rothenhoeffer, 73, had no intention of harming the boy when he fired at what he thought was a blue fish crane.

CORONER'S JURY
FINDS SHOOTING
"ACCIDENTAL"

A coroner's jury found Friday afternoon that the shooting of Billy McCauslin, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. McCauslin, Aspers, was "accidental" and that 73-year-old Charles H. Rothenhoeffer, a neighbor, had "no intention of injuring" the lad.

On the stand voluntarily, Mr. Rothenhoeffer told Dr. C. G. Criss, Adams county coroner, and a jury of six men that he had shot "many a fish crane" along the stream where Billy was playing and that when he fired at a patch of blue he had spotted through an opening in bushes at one end of his garden, he thought he was firing at another of the long-legged, slate-blue birds that frequently raised gold fish ponds nearby.

The brief inquest was conducted at the court house with the verdict being returned less than 15 minutes after the testimony of four witnesses was heard.

CHILD IS KILLED
BY TRUCK FRIDAY
IN ABBOTTSTOWN

Leon James Menges, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Menges, Abbottstown, was killed in front of his home along the Lincoln highway east of the square there Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock when he was struck by a truck loaded with four tons of cordwood.

The child's lifeless body lay in a pool of blood near the center of the roadway after being struck by the left front wheel or fender of a truck operated by Maurice C. Wagner, New Oxford R. 2, who said Friday was his 25th birthday anniversary.

Wagner was headed east enroute to Spring Grove with his load of pulpwood when the child attempted to cross the highway from his home on the north side to that of his aunt, Mrs. Leo Alkand, who lives directly across the street. Mrs. Alkand was moving her lawn and saw the accident, she told P. George Ackerson, of the Gettysburg substation of the state police.

Double Investigation

Private Ackerson and Dr. C. G. Criss, county coroner, were at the scene less than 45 minutes after the mishap occurred. Dr. T. C. Miller, Abbottstown, was called immediately after the collision but said the child was dead when he arrived. He called the coroner.

Mrs. Alkand carried the child's body into his home where it was later examined by Doctor Criss, who said that fractures of the skull and many other bones in the body and internal injuries caused death.

Wagner told the investigators that he was "not driving more than 25 miles an hour" when his truck struck the child. He said his high-heavy load nearly caused the truck to overturn when he attempted to stop suddenly. The truck is owned by George Millhines, New Chester.

Inquest Tuesday

Wagner was not held but Doctor Criss said he will conduct an inquest into the fatal accident next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the court house.

Besides his parents the victim of the accident is survived by three brothers, Quay, aged 10; Theron, aged six, and Ray, aged seven months. A grandfather, Jacob Menges, Spring Grove, also survives.

Funeral services Monday morning at Paradise Protectors with the Rev. Fr. William Burke, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church, Abbottstown, officiating. Interment at Abbottstown.

INVENTORY OF SHOES ORDERED

The OPA today issued an amendment formally calling for an inventory of rationed shoes and ration currency to be taken as of the close of business Monday, July 31, 1944. Today's action confirms an earlier announcement made for the information of the shoe trade.

The inventory is to be taken by all shoe manufacturers and by all persons dealing in rationed shoes, jobbers, retailers, and all other distributors, such as exporters, importers and auctioneers.

Reports are to be made on a new inventory and sales record form, which will be mailed soon to each dealer whose name is on file with the OPA inventory branch. The forms will be mailed from New York city and should be received by most dealers by July 27.

Failure to receive the form through the mail does not relieve any dealer of the necessity of taking the inventory. OPA emphasized that all dealers are required to file the report, whether or not they get the form by direct mail. Any dealer who does not receive his copy by July 27 should apply to the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration for the form needed and original and duplicate attached. Application should not be made before July 27, since reserve supplies will not be available before that date. Only the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration will have reserve supplies for dealers in this vicinity. They will not be available at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Promoted to Sergeant

Arthur W. Kuntz, a member of the 94th MRU, Presidio, San Francisco, Calif., has received word of his promotion to sergeant. He is at present visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Kuntz, near Bendersville. He will return to his post next Friday.

Mile-Long Beachheads
Established; Russians
90-Miles From Warsaw

By DENIEL DE LUCE
Moscow, July 22 (AP)—Red Army tank and infantry forces, making a supreme bid for Warsaw, rolled back German rearwards today on a jagged 200-mile battle line, and front dispatches said some Soviet forces were only 90 miles from the Polish capital.

At the same time the German position in the Baltics grew worse hourly, as Col. Gen. Ivan I. Maslennikov's troops captured Ostrov, cleared 17 miles of the Ostrov-Pskov railway, and left Pskov, 35 miles north of Ostrov, in an untenable salient. Tishina, seven miles from Latvia's northeastern boundary, was occupied.

The Red tide poured through dozens of breaches in the makeshift German line onto the Polish plains, where Hitler once swagged in victory, and where now his troops faced disaster.

The battle for Warsaw developed from these giant thrusts by Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's apparently inexhaustible offensive.

After cutting the Bialystok-Brest Litovsk railway at Czeremcha, 95 airline miles northeast of Warsaw two days ago, Soviet units now were reported to have advanced at least five miles.

Reds Continue Gains

Other Red Army forces were forging a ring of steel around Brest Litovsk, 90 miles east of Warsaw, after mopping up German pockets to the southeast, including Violkoryta, 18 miles distant on the Brest Litovsk railway.

German-Finnish forces were ousted from more than 20 settlements as the Karelian offensive was renewed north and west of the road and rail junction of Suojarvi by Gen. Kyrill A. Meretskov's troops.

The long static sector south of Tarnopol was the scene of another Soviet push which reached Bucacz, northeast of the mountain passes into Hungary.

The Moscow communique told of continued successes in the assault on tottering Lwow, with one Nazi infantry division defeated north of the town and one tank battalion whipped with a loss of more than 60 tanks.

Front dispatches said that Soviet bombers and Stormoviks started an attack on the four to five Nazi divisions surrounded in the region of Brody, east of Lwow, after the capture of 2,000 prisoners.

Two strong American landing forces converged along the west central coast of Guam today in a move that threatened to cut off the island's principal harbor, Port Apra.

In Tokyo, 1,500 miles away, the Japanese government reacted to the newest in a series of reverses by selecting its first new cabinet since the attack of Pearl Harbor.

The American soldiers and Marines who landed on Guam Thursday quickly established mile-long beachheads on both sides of Port Apra. War Correspondent John R. Henry reported.

Henry said that naval gunfire and aerial bombing preceding the landings "literally excavated the Japanese coastal defenses."

A communique from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters announced that good beachheads had been secured and additional troops were being landed against light initial resistance.

Meet Increasing Resistance

"The troops advancing inland are meeting increasing resistance in some sectors," the communique added. "Our casualties are moderate."

The Tokyo radio acknowledged the landings, but claimed that 1,100 Americans were killed at one landing beach and that "tremendous losses" had left the invading forces in "helpless disorder." The broadcast said heavy fighting was continuing.

The Japanese estimated the American landing force at a division and a half—more than 20,000 men—with 150 tanks.

Japan's militarists tightening their grip upon the empire by installing a new cabinet with Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, former governor-general of Korea, as premier, and Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai as navy minister and "temporary deputy prime minister."

Koiso is an expansionist of the same pattern as his predecessor, Gen. Hideki Tojo, whose government resigned five days ago when the Japanese acknowledged the loss of Saipan, 130 miles north of Guam.

Nimitz announced last night that Liberators, presumably based on Saipan, had bombed Chichi Jima and Haha islands in the Bonin group, 600 miles south of Tokyo, without loss.

They also attacked an enemy destroyer near Chichi Jima.

INVENTORY OF SHOES ORDERED

The OPA today issued an amendment formally calling for an inventory of rationed shoes and ration currency to be taken as of the close of business Monday, July 31, 1944. Today's action confirms an earlier announcement made for the information of the shoe trade.

The inventory is to be taken by all shoe manufacturers and by all persons dealing in rationed shoes, jobbers, retailers, and all other distributors, such as exporters, importers and auctioneers.

Reports are to be made on a new inventory and sales record form, which will be mailed soon to each dealer whose name is on file with the OPA inventory branch. The forms will be mailed from New York City and should be received by most dealers by July 27.

Failure to receive the form through the mail does not relieve any dealer of the necessity of taking the inventory. OPA emphasized that all dealers are required to file the report, whether or not they get the form by direct mail. Any dealer who does not receive his copy by July 27 should apply to the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration for the form needed and original and duplicate attached. Application should not be made before July 27, since reserve supplies will not be available before that date. Only the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration will have reserve supplies for dealers in this vicinity. They will not be available at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

The Harrisburg district OPA office has been instructed to charge ration checks drawn on non-existent bank accounts to the depositor who received the check, it was announced.

This action was taken because in many cases when checks are drawn on non-existent accounts, the depositor is the only person able to recover the ration points involved.

Usually ration checks are drawn on non-existent accounts through oversight or carelessness, OPA said.

Mile-Long Beachheads Established; Russians 90-Miles From Warsaw

By DENIEL DE LUCE
Moscow, July 22 (AP)—Red Army tank and infantry forces, making a supreme bid for Warsaw, rolled back German rearguards today on a jagged 200-mile battle line, and front dispatches said some Soviet forces were only 90 miles from the Polish capital.

At the same time the German position in the Baltics grew worse hourly, as Col. Gen. Ivan I. Maslennikov's troops captured Ostrov, cleared 17 miles of the Ostrov-Pskov railway, and left Pskov, 35 miles north of Ostrov, in an untenable salient. Tishina, seven miles from Latvia's northeastern boundary, was occupied.

The Red tide poured through dozens of breaches in the makeshift German line onto the Polish plains, where Hitler once swaged in victory, and where now his troops faced disaster.

The battle for Warsaw developed from these giant thrusts by Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's apparently inexhaustible offensive.

After cutting the Bialystok-Brest Litovsk railway at Czeremcha, 95 airline miles northeast of Warsaw two days ago, Soviet units now were reported to have advanced at least five miles.

Reds Continue Gains

Other Red Army forces were forging a ring of steel around Brest Litovsk, 90 miles east of Warsaw, after mopping up German pockets to the southeast, including Violkoryta, 18 miles distant on the Brest Litovsk railway.

German-Finnish forces were ousted from more than 20 settlements as the Karelian offensive was renewed north and west of the road and rail junction of Suojarvi by Gen. Kyrill A. Meretskov's troops.

The long static sector south of Tarnopol was the scene of another Soviet push which reached Bucacz, northeast of the mountain passes into Hungary.

The Moscow communique told of continued successes in the assault on tottering Lwow, with one Nazi infantry division defeated north of the town and one tank battalion whipped with a loss of more than 60 tanks.

Front dispatches said that Soviet bombers and Stormoviks started an attack on the four to five Nazi divisions surrounded in the region of Brody, east of Lwow, after the capture of 2,000 prisoners.

HITLER'S PARTY GETS SEVEREST TEST IN CRISIS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The big question in all minds naturally is whether Hitler will be able to control the rebellion against his authority—in other words, what effect this revolt is likely to have on the duration of the war.

It strikes me we must begin our analysis of that vital query with the observation that this challenge to the Fuehrer's rule, coupled with Germany's precarious military position, creates a situation in which anything can happen at any time. However, while we have a right to recognize potentialities, caution should prevent us from trying to bury Herr Hitler before the devil is dead.

The important factor now is how great may be the strength of the Nazi party, of which the Fuehrer has been not only politically dictator but spiritual leader. As remarked in yesterday's column, many of his followers still regard him as a Messiah and this is especially true of the fanatical young Nazis whose minds he has moulded since their childhood. They accept without question his claim that he is ordained by providence to lead them.

Has Youth With Him

Perhaps no head of government ever had such absolute control as Hitler has had—and may still have—over his faithful disciples. We don't know what their total strength may be. If we did we might hazard a guess as to how long he could survive.

We get no aid from comparison between the present situation and the German revolt which helped end the last war so speedily. In 1918 the old Kaiser didn't hold in his hand such countless thousands of youths who were prepared to sacrifice their lives in senseless and suicidal fighting as Nazi boys have done so many times. Also, the Kaiser's Reich was hungry, whereas Hitler's Germany still is well-fed. A full stomach can stand a lot of adversity.

It's upon the young fanatics that Gestapo Chief Himmler ("the hangman") is depending in his bloody purge of those who oppose Hitler. Himmler's big army is composed of hand-picked Nazis. Under Hitler he is military ruler of Germany, with power of life and death over the population, military and civilian. Opposed to him are the powerful Prussian militarists and their adherents, who have their bellies full of a war which they know is lost already.

Time For Death Blow

Only time will tell where the greater strength lies, maybe Hitler will collapse, but we have no right to assume this.

Because it's clear that Hitlerdom is disintegrating, and that the position is so critical that "anything can happen at any time," we must recognize that this is the appointed hour to throw everything we have into dealing the death blow. As the London Times says, so long as Nazi leadership combines the efficient organization of food supplies with efficient methods of repression, there is no serious doubt of its ability to hold the situation at home. For the United Nations, adds the Times, the key lies in military victory and in that alone.

That's round talk. Fortunately the Allied high command needs no coaching, as witness the hurricane of attack on all three fronts. We are pressing for the kill with a fury which Germany cannot long withstand even if Hitler is able to counter the rebellion within his own ranks.

Assassinations, Uprisings Stir Reich; Gestapo Slays Generals

(By The Associated Press)

London, July 22—A welter of reports indicated Germany was in a virtual state of siege today, ridden with rumors and with everyone from topflight generals down a suspect, as the Nazis attempted to stamp out all opposition in a vengeful purge.

Through Switzerland came an unconfirmed report that the Gestapo may have slaughtered some of the most illustrious figures in the army, all long-time foes of the Nazi regime.

These were said to include Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, Sigismund Wilhelm List and Fritz Erich von Manstein—none of whom has been heard from since Berlin announced two days ago that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped assassination.

Secret Purge

(A Berlin correspondent for Der Bund said today that the government quarter in Berlin was blocked off yesterday by troops of the Army and the armed SS for many hours, presumably to carry out purge measures, and that any effort to revolt could be considered to have collapsed.)

His dispatch to the Swiss newspaper, the first received here directly from the reich capital since the Germans announced the attempted assassination of Hitler Thursday, described the city as quiet.

Two reports, wholly unconfirmed, indicated unrest in the German navy as well as the army.

Radio France in Algiers quoted reports from Basel that it was generally believed there that naval units at Kiel and Sterlin had rebelled. The Brazzaville radio reported unrest among naval units in Norwegian ports and said an organization called "the fraternal association of all German sailors" appeared to be behind the movement.

Report Army Revolt

A Madrid dispatch said one report from a German embassy source there indicated certain Army elements had revolted in southern Germany and that fighting still was continuing.

Dr. Robert Ley, Nazi labor chief, declared in a broadcast address this morning to German armament workers that the fight Hitler "was saved does not mean the battle is won," then added:

"While German workers labor 12 and 16 hours without a Sunday or holiday, the idiotic nobility has nothing better to do than plot against our Fuehrer."

While the Nazis, through various broadcasts, claimed to have suppressed the revolt with at least two of the alleged ringleaders dead—Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, and the Count von Stauffenberg, accused by Hitler of placing the bomb—a voice on the Frankfurt radio wave length, purporting to be that of an officer in the Wehrmacht, announced this morning that "action is continuing."

The speaker urged fellow officers to offer continued armed resistance to Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo. The broadcast declared:

"Let Hitler know this much for certain—there is more than one Stauffenberg. Stauffenbergs are here in thousands."

MUD OF FRANCE BOGS ADVANCE

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 22 (AP)—The vast Allied military organization in Normandy bogged down in the mud of France today without a single advance being reported to the Supreme command in the past 24 hours.

The war's briefest communique for an operation as great as the Allied invasion summed up the situation in five words: "There is nothing to report."

The only change reported was the loss of Escourt, southwest of Caen between the Orne and Odon rivers. The Supreme command's report did not state whether the loss was due to German action or whether the town merely was abandoned to no man's land because it is in low ground.

Fliers Grounded

Re-checks showed the Germans still held Malot between the Orne and Odon, that it is not clear whether St. Martin de Fontenay is in Allied or German hands that Moyers still is held by the Germans as is nearby Monts, and that the Germans still are astride the Bayeux-St. Lo road at Berny.

Combat patrols were active overnight along the American sector of the front, and the Yanks reported inflicting casualties on the Germans in numerous small arms clashes.

The Allied tactical air forces were grounded completely for the first time since D-Day.

The first color photographs were made by James Maxwell, a Scotch physicist, in 1861.

ALLIES CLOSE ON FLORENCE; 14 MILES TO GO

By NOLAND NORGARD

Rome, July 22 (AP)—Fifth and Eighth Army troops closed steadily in on Florence from three directions today with advance infantry elements only 14 miles from the historic city's edge directly to the south.

In this closest thrust, the Fifth Army captured Tavernelle and the neighboring towns of Barberino d'Elisa and Capannu.

An American column advancing through the Elsa Valley toward the Arno River line captured Castel Fiorentino, 17 miles southwest of Florence, and British troops of the Eighth Army, fighting in the area of San Giovanni on the upper Arno Valley, were 18 miles to the southeast.

On the west coast American patrols probing the enemy's new defenses in the Arno Valley reached a point within four miles of Pisa. Artillery duels raged between large concentrations of German guns on high ground north of the river and the Fifth Army's long-range guns.

Poles Advance

On the Adriatic end of the battle line Polish troops pushed forward two or three miles and made contact with the retreating enemy four miles from the fishing port of Senigallia, at the mouth of the Misa River.

Interrogation of newest prisoners showed that two or more Nazi divisions which were formed originally for the Russian front, had been brought to Italy and broken up to supply reinforcements for the battered remnants of the Germans' 10th and 15th Armies. Allied headquarters said.

In the upper Arno River area Eighth Army units advanced three miles beyond Montecatini while in the upper Tiber Valley Indian troops repulsed 10 enemy counterattacks in a single day.

Eastward in the Sentino River valley the towns of Perticara, Seggia and Sassoferrato were occupied. The Italians captured the village of Belvedere in a fierce fight after occupying Iese and near the eastern coast the Poles occupied a number of towns, including Montemarciano.

BULLETINS

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, July 22 (AP)—Chindits have captured the villages of Nugh-arawung and Pungang, strategic junctions of jungle trails 17 miles west of Moggaung and seven miles northwest of Taungni in North Burma, an Allied communique announced today.

under $1,500 bond for court. He has filed a plea of guilty.

Doctor Crist told members of the jury the McCauslin boy died early Wednesday afternoon in the Warmer hospital, about an hour after he had been wounded near his home at Aspers. The coroner said about 75 lead shot were counted in his face, neck and head.

First witness was Charles "Eddie" Rothenhoeffer, 15-year-old grandson of the defendant in the war-story. He said he and Billy had been sitting on a plank across the small stream near the Rothenhoeffer property and were shooting water pistols at "water skaters" when the shot was fired.

Grief Stricken

His grandfather ran to the spot, where the McCauslin boy had fallen, after the shooting and told his grandson he thought he was shooting at a fish crane. Eddie said he had often seen cranes there and that his grandfather often had shot them there.

Dr. B. C. Jones, Bendersville, told of being called after the shooting. Wilmer Roth, Charles B. Dougherty, Jr. described Mr. Rothenhoeffer as Guy Mickle, C. W. Epler, Frank "grief-stricken" and unable to talk. Bletcher and Hugh C. McIlhenny.

Assassinations, Uprisings Stir Reich; Gestapo Slays Generals

(By The Associated Press)

London, July 22—A welter of reports indicated Germany was in a virtual state of siege today, ridden with rumors and with everyone from topflight generals down a suspect, as the Nazis attempted to stamp out all opposition in a vengeful purge.

Through Switzerland came an unconfirmed report that the Gestapo may have slaughtered some of the most illustrious figures in the army, all long-time foes of the Nazi regime.

These were said to include Field Marshals Walther von Brauchitsch, Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, Sigmund Wilhelm List and Fritz Erich von Manstein—none of whom has been heard from since Berlin announced two days ago that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped assassination.

Secret Purge

(A Berlin correspondent for Der Bund said today that the government quarter in Berlin was blocked off yesterday "by troops of the Army and the armed SS for many hours, presumably to carry out purge measures," and that any effort to revolt could be considered to have collapsed.

His dispatch to the Swiss newspaper, the first received here directly from the reich capital since the Germans announced the attempted assassination of Hitler Thursday, described the city as quiet.)

Two reports, wholly unconfirmed, indicated unrest in the German navy as well as the army.

Radio France in Algiers quoted reports from Basel that it was generally believed there that Naval units at Kiel and Stettin had rebelled. The Brazzaville radio reported unrest among Naval units in Norwegian ports and said an organization called "the fraternal association of all German sailors" appeared to be behind the movement.

Report Army Revolt

A Madrid dispatch said one report from a German embassy source there indicated certain Army elements had revolted in southern Germany and that fighting still was continuing.

Dr. Robert Ley, Nazi labor chief, declared in a broadcast address this morning to German armament workers that the fact Hitler "was saved does not mean the battle is won," then added:

"While German workers labor 12 and 16 hours without a Sunday or holiday, the idiotic nobility has nothing better to do than plot against our Fuehrer."

While the Nazis, through various broadcasts, claimed to have suppressed the revolt with at least two of the alleged ringleaders dead—Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, and the Count von Stauffenberg, accused by Hitler of placing the bomb—a voice on the Frankfurt radio wave length, purporting to be that of an officer in the Wehrmacht, announced this morning that "action is continuing."

The speaker urged fellow officers to offer continued armed resistance to Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo. The broadcast declared:

"Let Hitler know this much for certain—there is more than one Stauffenberg. Stauffenberg's are here in thousands."

MUD OF FRANCE BOGS ADVANCE

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 22 (AP)—The vast Allied military organization in Normandy bogged down in the mud of France today without a single advance being reported to the Supreme command in the past 24 hours.

The war's briefest communique for an operation as great as the Allied invasion summed up the situation in five words: "There is nothing to report."

The only change reported was the loss of Esquay, southwest of Caen between the Orne and Odon rivers. The Supreme command's report did not state whether the loss was due to German action or whether the town merely was abandoned to no man's land because it is in low ground.

Fliers Grounded

Re-checks showed the Germans still held Maltot between the Orne and Odon, that it is not clear whether St. Martin de Fontenay is in Allied or German hands that Moyers still is held by the Germans as is nearby Monts, and that the Germans still are astride the Bayeux-St. Lo road at Berny.

Combat patrols were active overnight along the American sector of the front, and the Yanks reported inflicting casualties on the Germans in numerous small arms clashes.

The Allied tactical air forces were grounded completely for the first time since D-Day.

The first color photographs were made by James Maxwell, a Scotch physicist, in 1861.

ALLIES CLOSE ON FLORENCE; 14 MILES TO GO

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 22 (AP)—Fifth and Eighth Army troops closed steadily in on Florence from three directions today with advance infantry elements only 14 miles from the historic city's edge directly to the south.

In this closest thrust, the Fifth Army captured Tavernelle and the neighboring towns of Barberino dal Elsa and Capanne.

An American command advancing through the Elsa Valley toward the Arno River line captured Castel Fiorentino, 17 miles southwest of Florence, and British troops of the Eighth Army, fighting in the area of San Giovanni on the upper Arno Valley, were 18 miles to the southeast.

On the west coast American patrols probing the enemy's new defenses in the Arno Valley reached a point within four miles of Pisa. Artillery duels raged between large concentrations of German guns on high ground north of the river and the Fifth Army's long-range guns.

Poles Advance

On the Adriatic end of the battle line Polish troops pushed forward two or three miles and made contact with the retreating enemy four miles from the fishing port of Senigallia, at the mouth of the Misa River.

Interrogation of newest prisoners showed that two or more Nazi divisions which were formed originally for the Russian front, had been brought to Italy and broken up to supply reinforcements for the battered remnants of the Germans' 10th and 14th Armies, Allied headquarters said.

In the upper Arno River area Eighth Army units advanced three miles beyond Monteverchi while in the upper Tiber Valley Indian troops repulsed 10 enemy counterattacks in a single day.

Eastward in the Sentino River Valley the towns of Perticiana, Seggia and Sassoferrato were occupied.

The Italians captured the village of Belvedere in a fierce fight after occupying Iese and near the eastern coast the Poles occupied a number of towns, including Montemarcano.

CORONER'S JURY

under $1,500 bond for court. He has filed a plea of guilty.

Doctor Crist told members of the jury the McCauslin boy died early Wednesday afternoon in the Warner hospital, about an hour after he had been wounded near his home at Aspers. The coroner said about 75 lead shot were counted in his face, neck and head.

First witness was Charles "Eddie" Rothenhoefer, 15-year-old grandson of the defendant in the court case. He said he and Billy had been sitting on a plank across the small stream near the Rothenhoefer property and were shooting water pistols at "water skaters" when the shot was fired.

Grief Stricken

His grandfather ran to the spot where the McCauslin boy had fallen after the shooting and told his grandson he thought he was shooting at a fish crane. Eddie said he had often seen cranes there and that his grandfather often had shot them there.

Dr. B. C. Jones, Bendersville, told of being called after the shooting. He described Mr. Rothenhoefer as "grief-stricken" and unable to talk about the tragedy immediately. In answer to questions by the jurors he said Mr. Rothenhoefer is "a very fine old man."

Fired at 108 Feet

Warned that anything he might say could be used against him in court, Mr. Rothenhoefer voluntarily took the stand and told simply his story. He said he had been hoeing in the garden and was going for another hoe when he noticed the blue through the bushes along the stream. He said he thought it was another blue fish crane seeking fish in the pond and got his gun. He crossed half of the garden, rested on one knee and fired. "And that's what happened," he concluded as he kept control of his emotions with visible effort. The jury had no questions.

Private Trout showed the jury pictures made by a state police photographer of the victim and scene of the shooting. He said Mr. Rothenhoefer was 108 feet from his target when he fired. His investigation showed, he said, that Mr. Rothenhoefer enjoys a good reputation in his community. He reported details of his investigation.

The members of the jury follow: Wilmer Roth, Charles B. Dougherty, Guy Mickle, C. W. Epley, Frank Britcher and Hugh C. McIlhenny.

NEW CRISES TO SPEED FALL OF NAZIS AND JAPS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, July 22 (AP)—Further political-military crises are expected by American officials to speed the catastrophic finale of Germany and Japan.

The attempted assassination of Premier Tojo, by odd coincidence, may have marked the last mile for both ends of the creaking Axis.

Authorities here hasten to express the view, however, that in both Europe and the Pacific it may be a long and bloody mile for the Allied forces closing in on Berlin and Tokyo, but what they stress is that regardless of continued resistance the Axis peoples at last must know the fate of utter defeat ahead of them.

The desperate military plights in which Germany and Japan now find themselves constitute the common denominator of the Tojo and Hitler incidents.

Brought On By Defeats
The Germans have been unable to check the Red Army offensive in the east; they failed to prevent Allied invasion in the west and apparently, they have at least temporarily exhausted their air force in futile efforts to stop Allied strategic bombing.

Their hopes for containing the Normandy beachhead in a small area and forcing a stalemate war this summer died when General Montgomery's men broke through at Caen this week. This is regarded as the beginning of a real war of movement in France—a war of swift, powerful thrusts.

That the blow at Hitler should have come from within the ranks of the high command itself, as Hitler broadcast last night, is the most startling evidence yet produced of the confusion, panic and breakdown of discipline in Germany.

Japs' Predicament
Japan's situation is seen here as not less critical than that of Germany. The conquest of Saipan pierces the most important island line, Tokyo-Guam, in her defensive strategy. It directly threatens her homeland.

The Japs know, too, that the American fleet is now strong enough to cover an invasion of the Philippines or the Kurile Islands or steam up and give Tokyo a carrier-borne bludgeoning whenever that becomes strategically advantageous.

Tojo's admission of failure by resigning can not change the facts of Japan's predicament. The designated co-premiers, Admiral Yonai and General Koiso, do not have any more guns, ships or planes to fight than Tojo had.

WALLACE HAPPY ABOUT RESULTS

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace came up smiling today after losing the biggest battle of his political career.

"I'm happy about it—I really am," he told sympathizers who filed through his hotel suite last night.

He was happy, he explained, because he thought the fight he had made for renomination had advanced further the cause of political and economic liberalism which he espouses.

And he made it clear he would go all the way for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket this fall. If he felt that the President, by making known that Senator Truman would be acceptable as running mate, had contributed to his defeat, he gave no sign of it.

"I believe more strongly than ever that President Roosevelt is the voice of western liberalism for the world," he said in a dictated statement. "It is exceedingly important that that voice goes on. I hope all true liberals will do their part to see that the voice is able to carry on in 1945."

To Senator Truman he sent this message:

"Congratulations upon your enlarged opportunity to help the President and the people. Both of us will do our maximum for Roosevelt and what Roosevelt stands for."

81 Golfers Stay In Utah Match

Salt Lake City, July 22 (AP)—Eighty-one survivors from a record field of 117 golfers turned out today for the second round of the $2,500 Utah open tournament.

Five pros and one amateur who shot sub par rounds on the 6,575-yard Fort Douglas course were in the lead at the end of first 18 holes.

Byron Nelson, of Toledo, Ohio, and Johnny Geertsen, Fort Douglas pro, were tied with 67s, five under par. Nelson shot a 32-35 and Geertsen 34-33.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Philadelphia, who won a pro-amateur preliminary Thursday, was in fifth place with 32-37-69. McSpaden had two practice rounds of 66, one stroke over the course record.

BOMBER CRASHES

Pittsburgh, July 22 (AP)—An Army attack bomber crashed and burst into flames, killing the pilot, Capt. Hugh D. Wehrley, 28, of Atlanta, Ga., yesterday at Allegheny county airport. The plane crashed shortly after Wehrley had taken off on a routine flight. Army air transport command officers said.

Cocoa beans were collected as taxes by the Aztec emperor.

Dixie Democrats Pondering Future

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Mollified only by the defeat of Henry A. Wallace for the Vice-Presidential nomination, Dixie Democrats took their city-inflicted political wounds back to the peace and quiet of the south today to decide their future role in national politics.

A rough week at the Democratic National Convention left some of their leaders in a militant mood and calling for an organization of southern party leaders to prevent future kickings-around, as they put it, from their northern colleagues.

Just what they would do, though, they were far from agreed on.

Some called for forthright organization of a third party built around the traditionally "solid south."

Others threatened to carry their fight into the November election—not by voting for Republican Thomas E. Dewey but by supporting him indirectly through the medium of sending to the electoral college electors who would not vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt but for some other Democrat, possibly Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia.

Flashes Of Life

SWEET MESS

Los Angeles (AP)—Thanks to a woodpecker, aided by a swarm of bees, Mrs. Helen Sharpe is in a sweet mess.

The woodpecker drilled a hole in her house. The bees took over and filled the walls with honey. Mrs. Sharpe attempted unsuccessfully to rout them with a vacuum cleaner.

Mrs. Sharpe, well stung, says anyone who can remove the bees may have the honey.

POLITICS—HOT AND COLD

Chicago (AP)—Delegates to the two National political conventions in Chicago this summer are sure to disagree on one thing—Chicago's weather.

The Republicans last month sweltered in a heat wave, with the mercury on the final day of the convention hitting 109 degrees—the year's hottest day.

During the Democrats' sessions the highest reading was 64 with temperatures in the 60's one day. A reading of 52.1 yesterday was two degrees above the coolest July day in the city's history.

TRUMAN HOPED TO ENTER ARMY AS VET OF '17

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Harry Truman wanted to put on a uniform; President Roosevelt said "no." So Truman now is the Democratic nominee for vice president.

Once, ten years ago, he was sitting on a county court bench minding his own business. Politicians put him up for the U. S. Senate with a "we're going to lose this one anyhow" idea and Truman won.

Things like that have been happening to the 60-year-old Missourian for so long he has developed a very special toothy grin to meet all exigencies.

"More Valuable In Senate"

Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term running mate, victor over Henry Agard Wallace at last night's closing convention session, might be on a real battlefield today if it had not been for the president himself.

Senator, war investigator, politician, no-withstanding, Truman would rather be a G. I. Joe. He got bitten by the uniform bug in 1917 and as an artillery major did all right. He never got over it. When this current war broke in America's face, Truman wanted to resign from the Senate and get behind the muzzle of an armor-piercing cannon again. The "chief" heard about it, told Truman "you're more valuable in the senate" and talked him out of it.

Ready Mixer

So Truman went on to head up the Senate war investigating committee.

Mr. Roosevelt let it be known himself that he thought Truman would strengthen his ticket. Perhaps that's what he had in mind.

CONVENTION AT-A-GLANCE

(By The Associated Press)
The 27th quadrennial Democratic Convention adjourned sine die at 8:20 p. m. Central War Time Friday, July 21, after three days in which:

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was nominated for a fourth term by a vote of 1,088 to 89 for Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, to one for James A. Farley, of New York.

Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri was chosen for the Vice Presidential campaign by a vote of 1,031 to 105 for Henry A. Wallace; 26 for Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee; six for Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky; four for Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and one for Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

A 1,500-word platform was adopted, calling for a world organization to maintain peace, by force if necessary; a global free press, and domestically standing on the principles of the New Deal and the Roosevelt record.

Anti-New Deal southerners helped to beat Wallace, their only avowed accomplishment. Pleas to restore the two-thirds nominating rule in the convention and to write a "white supremacy" plank into the platform were turned down. The convention seared half of each of the "regular" and "rump" delegations which came from Texas, precipitating a bolt of 33 Texans and third party talk.

Johnston Reports To Dewey On Trip

Pawling, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—The restful atmosphere of his Quakerhill farm claimed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey again today after a busy week climaxed by a lengthy discussion of conditions in Russia with Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

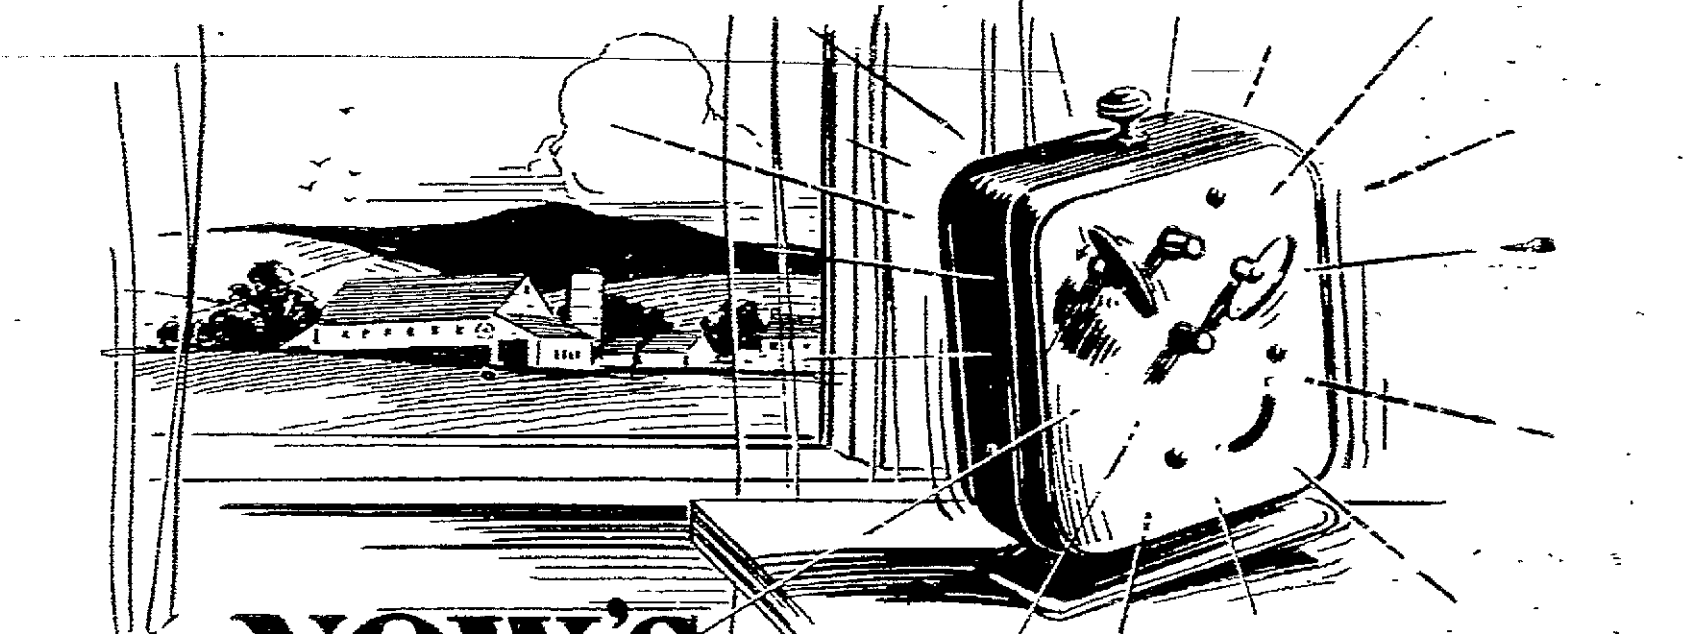

Johnston, Dewey's dinner guest at the executive mansion in Albany last night, returned July 13 from Russia where he talked with Premier Joseph Stalin, visited factories, and was a front-line observer of the Russian army in action.

He said he told the Republican Presidential nominee that the United States had "great trade opportunities with the Soviet Union," but that the granting of long-term (15 to 30 years) credit to Russian "will be essential."

Johnston said "both as a Republican and as a businessman" he would support Dewey and added that he conferred with the governor because "I think he should have a report on things I found in the Soviet Union." Johnston said he already had talked with Secretary of State Cordell Hull on his observations in Russia.

NEW CRISES TO SPEED FALL OF NAZIS AND JAPS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, July 22 (AP)—Further political-military crises are expected by American officials to speed the catastrophic finale of Germany and Japan.

The attempted assassination of Fuhrer Hitler and the resignation of Premier Tojo, by odd coincidence, may have marked the last mile for both ends of the creaking Axis.

Authorities here hasten to express the view, however, that in both Europe and the Pacific it may be a long and bloody mile for the Allied forces closing in on Berlin and Tokyo, but what they stress is that regardless of continued resistance the Axis peoples at last must know the fate of utter defeat ahead of them.

The desperate military plights in which Germany and Japan now find themselves constitute the common denominator of the Tojo and Hitler incidents.

Brought On By Defeats
The Germans have been unable to check the Red Army offensive in the east; they failed to prevent Allied invasion in the west and apparently, they have at least temporarily exhausted their air force in futile efforts to stop Allied strategic bombing.

Their hopes for containing the Normandy beachhead in a small area and forcing a stalemate war this summer died when General Montgomery's men broke through at Caen this week. This is regarded as the beginning of a real war of movement in France—a war of swift, powerful thrusts.

That the blow at Hitler should have come from within the ranks of the high command itself, as Hitler broadcast last night, is the most startling evidence yet produced of the confusion, panic and breakdown of discipline in Germany.

Japs' Predicament
Japan's situation is seen here as not less critical than that of Germany. The conquest of Salpans pierces the most important island line, Tokyo-Guam, in her defensive strategy. It directly threatens her homeland.

The Japs know, too, that the American fleet is now strong enough to cover an invasion of the Philippines or the Kurile Islands or steam up and give Tokyo a carrier-borne blasting whenever that becomes strategically advantageous.

Tojo's admission of failure by resigning can not change the facts of Japan's predicament. The designated co-premiers, Admiral Yonai and General Koiso, do not have any more guns, ships or planes to fight than Tojo had.

WAVE Recruiters To Be Here Thursday

Ruth Bergquist, yeoman third class, will accompany J. B. Angel, Sp. 1/C (R), of the U. S. Navy Recruiting station at York, to Gettysburg next Thursday for the purpose of interviewing recruits for the Waves.

An intensive campaign for Wave recruits will be inaugurated Monday and will continue until August 6. All women between the ages of 20 and 36 are eligible.

Yeoman Bergquist is from Helena, Montana. She took her training at the Naval Training Station, New York city, and took specialized training at Cedar Falls, Iowa. Before being transferred to the York recruiting station she was stationed at the Philadelphia recruiting office.

The recruiters will be at the post office building for interviews from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m.

WALLACE HAPPY ABOUT RESULTS

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace came up smiling today after losing the biggest battle of his political career.

"I'm happy about it—I really am," he told sympathizers who filed through his hotel suite last night.

He was happy, he explained, because he thought the fight he had made for renomination had advanced further the cause of political and economic liberalism which he espouses.

And he made it clear he would go all the way for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket this fall. If he felt that the President, by making known that Senator Truman would be acceptable as running mate, had contributed to his defeat, he gave no sign of it.

"I believe more strongly than ever that President Roosevelt is the voice of western liberalism for the world," he said in a dictated statement. "It is exceedingly important that that voice goes on. I hope all true liberals will do their part to see that the voice is able to carry on in 1945."

To Senator Truman he sent this message:

"Congratulations upon your enlarged opportunity to help the President and the people. Both of us will do our maximum for Roosevelt and what Roosevelt stands for."

81 Golfers Stay In Utah Match

Salt Lake City, July 22 (AP)—Eighty-one survivors from a record field of 117 golfers turned out today for the second round of the $2,500 Utah open tournament.

Five pros and one amateur who shot sub par rounds on the 6,575-yard Fort Douglas course were in the lead at the end of first 18 holes.

Byron Nelson, of Toledo, Ohio, and Johnny Geertsens, Fort Douglas pro, were tied with 67's, five under par. Nelson shot a 32-35 and Geertsens 34-33.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Philadelphia, who won a pro-amateur preliminary Thursday, was in fifth place with 32-37-69. McSpaden had two practice rounds of 66, one stroke over the course record.

BOMBER CRASHES
Pittsburgh, July 22 (AP)—An Army attack bomber crashed and burst into flames, killing the pilot, Capt. Hugh D. Wehrley, 28, of Atlanta, Ga., yesterday at Allegheny county airport. The plane crashed shortly after Wehrley had taken off on a routine flight, Army air transport command officers said.

Cocoa beans were collected as taxes by the Aztec emperor.

Dixie Democrats Pondering Future

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Mollified only by the defeat of Henry A. Wallace for the Vice-Presidential nomination, Dixie Democrats took their city-inflicted political wounds back to the peace and quiet of the south today to decide their future role in national politics.

A rough week at the Democratic National Convention left some of their leaders in a militant mood and calling for an organization of southern party leaders to prevent future kickings-around, as they put it, from their northern colleagues.

Just what they would do, though, they were far from agreed on.

Some called for forthright organization of a third party built around the traditionally "solid south."

Others threatened to carry their fight into the November election—not by voting for Republican Thomas E. Dewey but by supporting him indirectly through the medium of sending to the electoral college electors who would not vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt but for some other Democrat, possibly Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia.

SWEET MESS
Los Angeles (AP)—Thanks to a woodpecker, aided by a swarm of bees, Mrs. Helen Sharpe is in a sweet mess.

The woodpecker drilled a hole in her house. The bees took over and filled the walls with honey. Mrs. Sharpe attempted unsuccessfully to rout them with a vacuum cleaner.

Mrs. Sharpe, well stung, says anyone who can remove the bees may have the honey.

POLITICS—HOT AND COLD
Chicago (AP)—Delegates to the two National political conventions in Chicago this summer are sure to disagree on one thing—Chicago's weather.

The Republicans last month sweltered in a heat wave, with the mercury on the final day of the convention hitting 100 degrees—the year's hottest day.

During the Democrats' sessions the highest reading was 84 with temperatures in the 60's one day. A reading of 52.1 yesterday was two degrees above the coolest July day in the city's history.

TRUMAN HOPED TO ENTER ARMY AS VET OF '17

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Harry Truman wanted to put on a uniform; President Roosevelt said "no." So Truman now is the Democratic nominee for vice president.

Once, ten years ago, he was sitting on a county court bench minding his own business. Politicians put him up for the U. S. Senate with a "we're going to lose this one anyhow" idea and Truman won.

Things like that have been happening to the 60-year-old Missourian for so long he has developed a very special toothy grin to meet all exigencies.

"More Valuable In Senate"
Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term running mate, victor over Henry Agard Wallace at last night's closing convention session, might be on a real battlefield today if it had not been for the president himself.

Senator, war investigator, politician now withstanding, Truman would rather be a G. I. Joe. He got bitten by the uniform bug in 1917 and as an artillery major did all right. He never got over it. When this current war broke in America's face, Truman wanted to resign from the Senate and get behind the muzzle of an armor-piercing cannon again. The "chief" heard about it, told Truman "you're more valuable in the senate" and talked him out of it.

Ready Mixer
So Truman went on to head up the Senate war investigating committee.

Mr. Roosevelt let it be known himself that he thought Truman would strengthen his ticket. Perhaps that's what he had in mind.

An Evening Thought

The pride of circumstance or power is the prince of this world that has nothing in Christ. All power and happiness are spiritual, and proceed from goodness. —Mary B. Eddy.

Just Folks

HOT DAY
The lovely old elm seems asleep in the sun.

Too weary and worn to look up at the sky,
And I think as I sit here, my task still undone:

'Tis surely as languid and listless as I.

The leaves seem to plead for a breath of the sea,
And the blessing of shade from a cloud passing by!

Oh, I'm sure as I look at that lovely old tree,
It is suffering the same sort of languor as I.

I sit at my desk and I watch for a cloud
And the stir of a leaf, but no movement I spy.
And like the old elm I remain here, head bowed.

A weary old victim of summer am I.

Today's Talk

DARKNESS—AND DAWN

It was about the year 167 A. D. that Marcus Aurelius—a man of peace, and a great Roman Emperor—was compelled to take command, and himself to "set forth to stem the inrush of the barbarian tide along the marshes of the Danube." It has been said that "duty made him a great captain."

It was during these years of struggle and depression, probably his final years of life, that Marcus Aurelius penned his immortal group of sayings that we now know under the title of "To Himself." Little is known of his military career, but the entire world for centuries has been enriched by the calm, peaceful thoughts that he wrote down, with no thought of ever having them revealed to posterity. That is why they are so inspiringly precious.

It is at such times as we now are experiencing that the human heart yearns and hungers for spiritual consolation. It's when all the world is depressed that there is born a unity of hope, and a harkening back to the simple principles of the faith of our fathers, and of the rules of conduct that held them so firmly in the midst of darkness—when only faint rays of light touched their pathway.

What a night of darkness and depression it must have been as the crucified Christ hung upon his cross. But there was the Resurrection!

After the great Chicago fire, one line streamed through the minds and hearts of all. It was this: "Chicago will rise again!" And it did—greater than ever. So did San Francisco, after its terrible earthquake. That song we heard so often hardly yesterday: "There'll Always Be an England"—is not sung any more. The world knows that there always will be an England. Now the enemy knows it.

And France will rise again. The world will be free. When the world is depressed, is when its soul is re-born. It will be a better world when peace finally comes. A world chastened—spiritualized. The fallen blossoms of its treasured youth will enrich it.

Believes Fire in County Was Set by Children: After an exhaustive investigation, Trooper Edward Bouse, of the state fire marshal's office, Harrisburg, said he could find no indication that the fire at Hunt-erstown Monday evening, which destroyed six farm buildings, valued at $4,000, was of incendiary origin.

Trooper Bouse was called in to investigate the fire by James B. Aumen, chief of the Gettysburg fire department, and Adams county fire marshal, because there have been several fires in Straban township since the first of the year which have borne the earmarks of incendi- arism.

Trooper Bouse said he leaned toward the belief, which is also shared by numerous residents of Hunters-town, that children smoking sur-reptitiously in the barn during the afternoon might have set fire to the place.

Just picturing yourself rolling along in a brand new car requires a tax on your imagination.

In cases where the engine refuses to start it is always well to give a thought to the starter switch which, upon special occasions, may refuse to make contact the first time it is flipped. One clue to possible switch failure is absence of activity at the ammeter. When the ignition is on and the engine is being cranked so that breaker points make and break there should be intermittent discharge shown at the ammeter. This instrument is recording only the current used by the ignition system, not that passing through the starter-motor circuit.

Where a switch is faulty its normal functioning often can be cured by the simple process of flipping it on and off a couple of times. Speaking of starter trouble reminds me to pass along a thought that came out of a recent conversation at the motor club. Several of us were exchanging experiences when one ardent motorist brought out the point that even if a fellow doesn't know too much about the mechanical mysteries under the hood he often can forestall trouble by the simple habit of keeping things clean and tight. Evidence of his success with this was the fact that he had never had trouble with the special starter control on his engine whereas several of his friends with the same make of car had been caught as many times with serious trouble. It appears that leakage around the connections of a special vacuum starter control which connected with the intake manifold, had caused the starter gears to try to mesh with the flywheel gear when the latter was in action. Chipped teeth were the penalty. The vacuum control just didn't release properly when the engine was running just because of the innocent little leakage around a connection that could easily have been tightened, even by a novice.

One symptom of greasy brakes is a marked tendency for the car to stop abruptly when the brakes are cold but to be very slow on the pedal when the brakes have warmed up. This merely reflects the effect of temperature on the grease. Lube on just one brake will result in tendency for that brake to lock when cold. Remember that if there is grease on, say the left front brake, the car will pull that way when the brakes are cold BUT the other way when they are warmed up.

There isn't much you can do about greasy brakes these days but to replace the lining, making sure, however, to check the source of the lube leakage. Grease can be burned off molded lining more successfully than off the woven variety, but the plan should be reserved merely for an emergency. It tends to produce an undesirable glaze.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Years of service, with only the usual change of lube for warm and cold seasons, have left the average transmission a bit on the gummy side. It's no wonder owners are complaining of trouble shifting. Just because of the complicated remote control on the steering post there is a natural tendency to blame such improvements for the trouble shifting. But I'll wager in nine cases out of ten what's needed is a thorough flushing of the gearbox. Do this by draining the old lube and refilling with kerosene or gum solvent. Drive around the block slowly. Then draw off and refill with the right grade of lube for the season. It will be good shift."

You may feel handicapped if the engine temperature gauge goes on a rampage and leaves you without the customary gadget to warn of engine fever, but there are other signs you can use to good advantage in reading the situation under the hood. The most useful of these is the oil pressure gauge which will show a much lower reading if the engine is overheating. Any such pressure drop may be merely a sign that you need more oil, or that the grade of oil in the crankcase is incorrect, but if after taking care of the oil situation you find a further drop in pressure and still further loss of oil you will start to look for other conditions. Of course, from the moment you are first tipped off by the gauge that something is wrong you should check the fan belt for slippage, the brakes for drag, the clutch for slippage and the cooling system for water supply.

Rough on Valves
To those who still believe that if wartime fuel knocks anyway there's no point in bothering to have carbon removed, I want to pass along the fact that one of the most serious troubles with accumulating carbon is that it tends to lodge under the valve heads. In preventing proper seating of the valves it thus helps to burn and warp them. In a high percentage of cases an engine is torn down not merely to get rid of carbon but to get rid of the expensive damage which that carbon has inflicted.

What is indicated when a battery shows a constant high reading? Is this a hint of impending demise of the plates, or damage to the insulators, or something equally serious?

If the reading runs between 1.285 and 1.300 specific gravity the indications are that generator output should be cut down a little to prevent shortening battery life. But if specific gravity reads above 1.300 the conclusion is that the electrolyte has been doped. Remedy is to lean out the strength of the solution, otherwise the battery will be internally and perhaps permanently damaged.

Maybe You Knew—
That if there is any question as to whether motor noise is due to tappets you can insert thin strips of metal (shims) between tappets and valve stem ends for a test. If the noise continues you can then suspect that there is a warped valve or two, or that the noise may be due to something other than valves.

Being Sure is the Best Insurance!

Try This Some Time
Vacuum gauge testing is so detailed that even fine tremor of the gauge indicator has a meaning all its own. If this tremor is rapid and observable only when the engine is fast idling the indications are that there is loss of vacuum around the valve stem guides which are worn. A characteristic of this condition is that the tremor should disappear when the engine is speeded up.

Having Their Troubles?
G. There is no inspection hole in the side of the float chamber of the carburetor on my car so I cannot tell whether there is gasoline in it after the car has stood over night. The engine is very difficult to start. How can I tell about the fuel situation in the carburetor? —G. L.

A. One way to do this is to lift the hood and listen carefully when you open the throttle wide and quickly. This actuates the acceleration pump of the carburetor. If there is gasoline in the float chamber you will hear gasoline being squirted into the intake.

Q. Is it possible for one piston pin to knock while the others are quiet? —C. K. C.

A. Why not? Just because two of them may go bad at the same time is no reason to assume that the trouble cannot be solo. Think how often just one tappet may go bad, and in an eight cylinder engine there are 16 tappets!

Q. Can I remove the distributor without throwing the engine out of time, if I am careful to note the position of the rotor? —H. N. N.

A. Yes, you can do this, but be careful when you replace the distributor. (Please Turn to Page 5)

Letters To The Editor

In Italy

Dear Sir:

Here I sit with pen in hand while on all sides of me, my buddies are talking of the good old days. The main subjects are: girl friends, and the best one is talking about eating hamburgers and fried chicken. I really don't know what keeps us going but when we hear our radio, well, that helps out. Our good friend Ernie Pyle is sure pulling for us. In fact he pulls more for us than our own senators. Its been two years now and still it looks as if we'll never get back home. Why not give us a chance to enjoy the USO clubs and get good eats for a change. Not saying our eats are bad but we're wanting some of mother's good home-cooked meals, (and how.)

Several days ago we had beer and "cokes" after being overseas for 2 years—yes I said 2 years. One thing that helps cheer us up is meeting someone from your home town, or close by. I enjoy every minute talking to a real buddy. My one good friend is John H. Urspruch, of Elliptic City, Md. He knows a lot of my friends from Gettysburg College and boy, we sure have some great "bull sessions." Really John is a swell buddy and I'm glad we saw each other even if it had to be somewhere on the Anzio Beachhead. We talked of Ted Thomas, Herbie Brown and many other boys we knew from college. Gee! but a talk with a friend sure does one a lot of good.

Well today I received another package from mother; she is a real pal, and I know she knows I think the world of her. Mother is the best pal a fellow can have and believe me, we fellows over here know that.

At last I have written a few lines which you will soon see out on the sheet-music market. My one tune was featured over our radio station here in Naples. A very sweet little girl, Anne, the sweetheart of the American Red Cross, was the first one to sing one of my new tunes.

"Do I Care For You" is the tune Anne sang and perhaps you will see it soon or hear it. My publisher, Nordyke Publishing Company of Hollywood, California, will publish some of my tunes, also another well-known publisher has a few of my tunes.

At this time I want to express my sincere thanks to A. S. Coffman of Blocher's jewelry store. He has helped me out very much by sending me books on watch repair. Those books will surely help me out a lot in my work and really Mr. Coffman, I do appreciate those books.

Yesterday I received a letter from Don Carver, who is stationed somewhere in England. He wrote me a real nice letter and I was so glad to hear from him. Don says he misses his music and I too, can agree with him on that subject. Most of all he talks about his wife and baby. I can truly understand how he feels as he has a nice little wife and baby. Perhaps soon Don and I will meet again; gee! I hope it's soon.

It's about time for me to close as old Jerry is starting to throw his shells over our heads. And that is "no banna" as an Italian would say, meaning "no good." At least it is a good feeling to know they are going over our heads instead of, oh, you know what I mean. I sure hate to hear that whistle as it makes one's hair stand up. So much for this evening's talks. So for now it's so long and keep smiling as we do that ourselves, even if we are two year men.

Your Beachhead Buddy,
George C. Mitchell

Dear Sir:

I am writing you a few lines to thank you sincerely for your sending me the paper. I get it very often and it beats the mail and packages very often. It brings back the old memories of Gettysburg, and when this war is over I am coming back to the good old home town.

So far I have not met any fellows from my home town but there is sure plenty of them from Pennsylvania and many a time we sit by our bunks and talk about the good old state.

The life out here in the Pacific is really rough and plenty rugged. I am serving with the Seabees, which is a good outfit and it sure is doing a great job out here in the Pacific war and also the European war. We work hard and we are always ready for the worst and we can take it.

There is plenty kinds of disaster out here in the tropics and the most common one is malaria and that is very dangerous for the troops out here. So far I am very fortunate because I am in fine health. I must close now but once again I thank you a lot for sending me the paper—"Keep 'em coming."

tributor. That oil you say is coming up around the shaft is a sure sign of too much crankcase pressure. Are the breather tubes clear?

C. If I change the sizes will it make the speedometer and mileage readings inaccurate?—H. B. E.

A. For accuracy you will need to use an adapter. This is fitted at the transmission case, the speedometer cable then being attached to the adapter. Incidentally, always use matched sets of speedometer gears as inaccuracies are caused by running an old gear with a new one.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him, care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

Chapter 19
For once she did not follow Angel and beg to comfort her, although Angel's wild sob were like knife-thrusts in her heart. "Poor Angel," she thought sadly, as she walked down the hall to the kitchen. "I've failed her too. I've slapped her. I never did it before, and God forbid that I should ever do it again." A grim smile touched her lips, and she added, unexpectedly, "I wanted to long. I should have done it twenty years ago."

All of Martha's bravado was gone when, a few evenings later, she recounted the incident to Louise.

"I—I don't know what ever possessed me to do such a dreadful thing. It was the last thing in the world I meant to do. She'll never forgive me. I—I suppose I should apologize."

Louise got up from her chair, came over and gave her mother a playful pat on the wrist, then kissed her gently on the cheek. "If you do that," she warned, "I know somebody else who's going to get slapped." She paused to lean over and kiss Martha again. "Don't worry, darling. Angel asked for it. She's been asking for it a long time."

Martha looked up at her gratefully, but said nothing. Louise went back to her chair, vaguely disappointed that Martha had not chosen to continue the subject. This was the first time they'd discussed Angel—in fact, the first time in weeks they'd had a chance for a real talk.

It might help Martha to know that she, Louise understood; that Louise was not blind to her mother's problems. It might help Angel, too. Angel wasn't happy, in spite of the admiration her beauty inspired.

Angel had always thrived on admiration. Her interest in men now was no reflection on her loyalty to Jimmie. Louise recognized it for what it was: self-interest. But Angel was not thriving. In fact she was downright unhappy. It was apparent in her nervous, restless manner, her strange fits of moodiness, the way she dashed from place to place, discontented with everything and everybody.

It isn't all temperament or selfishness, and it isn't grief for Jimmie," Louise thought now, recalling the many times she had surprised a strained look on Angel's face—a look almost of panic. It was almost as if Angel were plagued by some dark secret that she could not, or would not, reveal. "She's hiding something from us," maybe Martha had noticed it too. . . .

"Should I bring up the question of Bobby?" Louise asked herself, and decided against it immediately. Glancing across at Martha's pale, tired face, now bent over her sewing, Louise felt it would be nothing short of heartless to say anything that might add to her mother's worries. No, there would be no point in bringing up the subject of Bobby's behavior—unless—

"Mother," she said suddenly. "I've got an idea! What say we bring out the saxophone and let Bobby have it again. He could practice at night while Angel's at the club. It'll keep him interested."

Martha put down her sewing basket, folded the garment she'd mended, and smiled across at her daughter.

"We—we might try it," said Martha after a moment's hesitation. "I'm worried about Bobby. I—I'd like to do something."

"Oh, let's Mother!" Louise jumped up. "We'll get the old hornpipe out right now, and put it somewhere where Bobby can see it the minute he gets in."

Louise ran to get it in Angel's room, but a moment later she returned, empty-handed. "

New Premier Of Japan Is Named

(By The Associated Press)
Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, former governor-general of Korea and long an advocate of Japanese expansion, has been named premier of Japan in a new cabinet in which Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai became Navy minister. It was announced in a Domei agency dispatch broadcast from Tokyo today.

Domei said Yonai also would serve as "temporary deputy prime minister."

Heading the first new cabinet in Japan since the attack on Pearl Harbor, Koiso succeeds Gen. Hideki Tojo, whose government resigned five days ago almost simultaneously with the first Japanese acknowledgment of the loss to American forces of Saipan, a base that puts U. S.
Superfortresses within bombing range of Japan's main cities.

In the new cabinet there were two holdovers from the Tojo cabinet.

etary conference, after three weeks of hard work, comes to an end tonight with the signing of documents for an international monetary fund
and a world bank for reconstruction and development.

These two projects which a conference resolution termed "important for peace and prosperity," subsequently will be put before the legislative bodies of 44 united and associated nations for approval.

They are expected to come before the American Congress some time early next year.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Here I sit with pen in hand while on all sides of me, my buddies are talking of the good old days. The main subjects are: girl friends, and the best one is talking about eating hamburgs and fried-chicken. I really don't know what keeps us going but when we hear our radio, well, that helps out. Our good friend Ernie Pyle is sure pulling for us. In fact he pulls more for us than our own senators. Its been two years now and still it looks as if we'll never get back home. Why not give us a chance to enjoy the USO clubs and get good cats for a change. Not saying our cats are bad but we're wanting some of mother's good home-cooked meals. (and now.)

Several days ago we had beer and "cokes" after being overseas for 2 years—yes I said 2 years. One thing that helps cheer us up is meeting someone from your home town, or close by. I enjoy every minute talking to a real buddy. My one good friend is John H. Urspruch, of Elliott City, Md. He knows a lot of my friends from Gettysburg College and boy, we sure have some great "bull sessions." Really John is a swell buddy and I'm glad we saw each other even if it had to be somewhere on the Anzio Beachhead.

We talked of Ted Thomas, Herbie Brown and many other boys we knew from college. Gee! but a talk with a friend sure does one a lot of good.

Well, today I received another package from mother; she is a real pal, and I know she knows I think the world of her. Mother is the best pal a fellow can have and believe me, we fellows over here know that.

At last I have written a few tunes which you will soon see out on the sheet-music market. My one tune was featured over our radio station here in Naples. A very sweet little girl—Anne, the sweetheart of the American Red Cross, was the first one to sing one of my new tunes.

"Do I Care For You" is the tune Anne sang and perhaps you will see it soon or hear it. My publisher, Nortyke Publishing Company of Hollywood, California, will publish some of my tunes, also another well-known publisher has a few of my tunes.

At this time I want to express my sincere thanks to A. S. Coffman of Blocher's jewelry store. He has helped me out very much by sending me books on watch repair.
Those books will surely help me out a lot in my work and really Mr.
Coffman, I do appreciate those books.

Yesterday I received a letter from Don Carver, who is stationed somewhere in England. He wrote me a real nice letter and I was so glad to hear from him. Don says he misses his music and I too, can agree with him on that subject.
Most of all he talks about his wife and baby. I can truly understand how he feels as he has a nice little wife and baby. Perhaps soon Don and I will meet again; gee! I hope it's soon.

It's about time for me to close as old Jerry is starting to throw his shells over our heads. And that is "no banna" as an Italian would say, meaning "no good." At least it is a good feeling to know, they are going over our heads instead of,
oh, you know what I mean. I sure hate to hear that whistle as it makes one's hair stand up. So for now it's so long and keep smiling as we do that ourselves, even if we are two year men.

Your Beachhead Buddie,
George C. Mitchell

I am writing you a few lines to thank you sincerely for you sending me the paper. I get it very often and it beats the mail and packages very often. It brings back the old memories of Gettysburg and when this war is over I am coming back to the good old home town.

So far I have not met any fellows from my home town but there is sure plenty of them from Pennsylvania and many a time we sit by our bunks and talk about the good old state.

The life out here in the Pacific is really rough and plenty rugged.
I am serving with the Seabees,
which is a good outfit and it sure is doing a great job out here in the Pacific war and also the European war. We work hard and we are always ready for the worst and we can take it.

There is plenty kinds of disaster out here in the tropics and the most common one is malaria and that is very dangerous for the troops out here. So far I am very fortunate because I am in fine health. I must close now but once again I thank you a lot for sending me the paper—"keep 'em coming."

A. For accuracy you will need to use an adapter. This is fitted at the transmission case, the speedometer cable then being attached to the adapter. Incidentally, always use matched sets of speedometer gears as inaccuracies are caused by running an old gear with a new one.

Chapter 19

For once she did not follow Angel and beg to comfort her, although Angel's wild sobs were like knife-thrusts in her heart. "Poor Angel," she thought sadly, as she walked down the hall to the kitchen. "I've failed her too. I've slapped her. I never did it before, and God forbid that I should ever do it again." A grim smile touched her lips, and she added, unexpectedly, "I waited too long. I should have done it twenty years ago."

All of Martha's bravado was gone
when, a few evenings later, she recounted the incident to Louise.

"I—I don't know what ever possessed me to do such a dreadful thing. It was the last thing in the world I meant to do. She'll never forgive me. I—I suppose I should apologize."

Louise got up from her chair, came over and gave her mother a playful pat on the wrist, then kissed her gently on the cheek. "If you do that," she warned, "I know somebody else who's going to get slapped." She paused to lean over and kiss Martha again. "Don't worry, darling. Angel asked for it.
She's been asking for it a long time."

Martha looked up at her gratefully, but said nothing. Louise went back to her chair, vaguely disappointed that Martha had not chosen to continue the subject. This was the first time they'd discussed Angel—in fact, the first time in weeks
they'd had a chance for a real talk.

It might help Martha to know that she, Louise understood; that Louise was not blind to her mother's problems. It might help Angel, too.
Angel wasn't happy, in spite of the admiration her beauty inspired.
Angel had always thrived on admiration. Her interest in men now was no reflection on her loyalty to Jimmie. Louise recognized it for what it was: self-interest. But Angel was downright unhappy. It was apparent in her nervous, restless manner, her strange fits of moodiness, the way she dashed from place to place, discontented with everything and everybody.

"It isn't all temperament, or selfishness, and it isn't grief for Jimmie," Louise thought now, recalling the many times she had surprised a strained look on Angel's face—a look almost of panic. It was almost as if Angel were plagued by some dark secret that she could not,
or would not, reveal. "She's hidding something from us." Maybe Martha had noticed it too.

"Should I bring up the question of Bobby?" Louise asked herself, and decided against it immediately.
Glancing across at Martha's pale,
tired face, now bent over her sewing, Louise felt it would be nothing short of heartless to say anything that might add to her mother's worries. No, there would be no point in bringing up the subject of Bobby's behavior—unless—

"Mother," she said suddenly, "I've got an idea! What say we bring out the saxophone and let Bobby have it again. He could practice at night while Angel's at the club.
It'll keep him interested."

Martha put down her sewing basket, folded the garment she'd mended, and smiled across at her daughter.

"We—we might try it," said Martha after a moment's hesitation.
"I'm worried about Bobby. I—I'd like to do something."

"Oh, let's Mother!" Louise jumped up. "We'll get the old hornpipe out right now, and put it somewhere where Bobby can see it the minute he gets in."

Louise ran to get it in Angel's room, but a moment later she returned, empty-handed. "It—it's gone, Mother," she stammered, and added, a little foolishly, "What I'm trying to say is—er—the saxophone's not there. It's gone!"

Before Martha could recover herself enough to speak, the front door opened quietly and there was a sound of footsteps going down the hall. Louise ran to the living room door just in time to see Bobby, the saxophone under his arm, slip into Angel's room. Puzzled, she hurried down the hall and stood watching
while Bobby opened the cedar chest, wrapped the saxophone carefully in one of Martha's old silk dresses, and put it inside, where it had been.
When he had closed the chest, he turned and saw Louise. Muttering something under his breath, he brushed past her, scurried down the hall and into the kitchen, closing the door behind him.

For a fraction of a second Louise hesitated. Then she took a long breath and followed Bobby into the kitchen. She had seen the dark smear of blood across Bobby's cheek,
the lone, jagged tear in his precious zoot suit, the defiant, desperate look in his eyes.

TWILIGHT TEAR FAVORED TO WIN CLASSIC TODAY

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Warren Wright's sensational Twilight Tear, unbeaten in 10 starts, was favored to shatter a traditional hex on fillies by scampering to victory in today's $81,350 Arlington classic which looms as strictly a family affair.

Only six horses—smallest field in the classic's history—were entered in the lucrative mile and a quarter race and three, including Twilight Tear, Pensive, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, and Fleet Miss Keeneland, carried the colors of Wright's Calumet farm.

In 15 previous runnings, the classic never has had a filly finish better than third. It even was a pitfall for such prime favorites as Whirlaway, Bimelech, Cavalcade, Twenty Grand, Johnstown and Discovery.

Biggest Stake

Although the Wright trio was accorded rock bottom 1-10 odds, the race was expected to resolve into a duel between Twilight Tear and Pensive with the Derby champion trying to atone for two recent defeats by his fast-stepping sabbate.

The "outside" three—some included R. W. McIlvain's Old Kentuck, second choice at 12 to 1; Brolite farm's Challenge Me, 15 to 1; and J. V. Maggio's American Eagle, 50 to 1.

A victory for Twilight Tear, carrying only 114 pounds compared with Pensive's 126, would produce her biggest stake in two years of campaigning, $63,550. She already has earned $123,550 and her 11th straight triumph would give the classy daughter of Bull Lea a shot at the mark established by the greatest money-winning filly of all time, Top Flight, which accumulated $275,900 in two years.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Dick Powell co-stars with Lucille Ball in the singing lead of the new M-G-M musical comedy, "Meet the People," which opens Monday at the Majestic theater.

Powell appears as a happy-go-lucky playwright working as a riveter in a busy shipyard. He is a man of principle with a love for the "common man," but that doesn't prevent him from falling in love with the glamorous Broadway star played by Miss Ball.

The supporting cast includes comies "Rags" Ragland, Virginia O'Brien, Paul Regan, June Allison and Bert Lahr. Betty Jaynes and John Craven are another romantic duo. Miriam LaVelle, Mata and Hari and Spike Jones and his City Slickers contribute specialty numbers. Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra are featured.

WEDNESDAY

Laughter, a priceless commodity, is untraded. And is Hollywood taking advantage of it?

Instead of one comedian to a picture, now an entire cast turns laughmakers.

M-G-M's "Swing Fever" is the first of the all comedy cast musicals. It comes to the Majestic theater Wednesday.

Kay Kyser, its star, antics uproariously in it. So does the beautiful heroine, Marilyn Maxwell. So does big Bill Gargan. And Lou Nova and Maxie Rosenbloom. Songstress Lena Horne goes comic. So does Kyser's band and Nat Pendleton.

"The Liberation of Rome," a two-reel documentary film showing close-up scenes of the fighting in Italy from the landing of Calabria to the capitulation of Rome, will also be shown. The picture presented by the War Department and produced by the United States Army Pictorial Service in collaboration with British Service Film Units, not only shows the actual fighting but also presents animated maps outlining the military strategy employed at such places as Volturno, Cassino and Anzio.

THURSDAY

George Sanders' romantic and suspenseful portrayals have made him one of the most popular actors on the screen today.

He plays a resourceful American newspaperman in "Action in Arabia," RKO Radio's newest adventure offering. Seeking to unravel the puzzling death of a reporter companion, the hero plunges into a sinister Nazi plot, and by daring good luck and the help of a mysterious secret service girl, manages to solve the murder and defeat a German scheme to destroy the Suez Canal.

Virginia Bruce and Lenore Aubert are the feminine leads in the picture, with Gene Lockhart co-featured in a clever character role.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

George Murphy, Nancy Kelly and Constance Moore are also starred in the film, which was produced by Cantor himself and is largely based on authentic incidents in the careers of the various principals.

Eight old song favorites, including "It Had To Be You" and "Dinah," and many gay scenes from hit Broadway revues of the period, are woven into the plot of the offering.

Approximately 80 billion dollars of National Service Life Insurance has been applied for by Army personnel.

BAGBY MAY PUT TRIBE IN SCRAP FOR '44 PENNANT

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Jim Bagby who once vowed he'd never pitch another game for Cleveland under Manager Lou Boudreau today stood out as the man who may boost the Tribe into the thick of the pennant scrap.

When Bagby joined the Merchant Marine after last season, he said he was through with Cleveland. But after being rejected by the draft earlier in the week, the 17-game winner of '42 and '43 hustled to the tribal wigwam and last night stopped Philadelphia with five hits as Boudreau's Indians took a 4-1 decision over Luke Hamlin to sweep the series.

While the Yankees and Browns took turns knocking one another's brains out, without disturbing St. Louis' 2-game margin, Cleveland and Detroit made motions toward serious contention. The St. Louis-New York series ended yesterday when Atley Donald outpitched Al Hollingsworth for an 8-2 Yank victory and an even break.

Four Straight For Detroit

Detroit took four straight from Washington, all by one-run margins, to keep pace with Cleveland in a fourth place tie, 1½ games back of Boston and 5½ off the top.

Dizzy Trout captured win No. 13 at the expense of reliever Early Wynn of the Senators as Roger Cramer hammered home two Detroit runs and scored the other in a last of the ninth rally for a 6-5 edge.

Boston lost ground by falling before Chicago, 5-3, for the second time in 14 starts. Buck Ross finally hit the win side of the ledger as Yank Terry suffered his seventh failure with Tom Turner's four hits his main torture.

Harry Brecheen shut out the New York Giants, 5-0, to help the Cardinals move another step toward an early flag in the National. Johnny Hopp and Ray Sanders spanked home runs at the expense of Harry Feldman and Ace Adams.

Dodgers In Basement

Brooklyn's long losing slump finally dumped the Dodgers into the basement, tied with Boston, after dropping a 3-2 game to Cincinnati's Ed Heuser. Woody Williams with two doubles and two singles for a perfect day helped drop Curt Davis below the .500 mark with his 6th setback.

Max Butcher boosted his win streak to five although the Phils outthit the Pirates. Frankie Zak's three hits were a big factor in Pittsburgh's 5-3 night victory.

Don Dilleasandro's two-run homer in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie for Chicago's 4-2 margin over the Braves after Bill Nicholson's 16th round tripper had given Chicago an early lead. Both Red Lynn of the Cubs and Ben Cardoni of the Braves were seeking their first victory.

Laurels Win Pair From Scranton Sox

(By The Associated Press)

Hartford's Laurels still were perched comfortably atop the Eastern league's standings today but, like the sailor bailing a leaky boat, knew it would make some effort to stay afloat.

Their comfortable six-game margin over Albany's second-place Senators can not be considered precarious but Scranton's lowly cellar-dwelling Red Sox demonstrated last night they could out-hit the Laurels and forced the New Englanders to stretch a bit before they copped the doubleheader, 2 to 0 and 7 to 5.

The Senators also took a tough doubleheader, defeating Wilkes-Barre's Barons 5 to 3 and 6 to 4 although they too were outthit by the seventh-place club. Utica's Blue Sox split their double-bill with Williamsport Grays, 5 to 3 and 5 to 7. Binghamton's triplets showed ahead of Elmira's Pioneers into fifth place with an 8 to 2 decision.

Bradford 1-0

Buffalo, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—The Batavia Clippers held the Bradford Blue Wings scoreless last night in a Pony league game in which Batavia pitcher Sefcik allowed the Blue Wings one lone hit. The Clippers scored a run in the eighth, ending with a 1-0 victory.

The Erie Sailors climbed back into their fourth place spot in the league standings by defeating the Wellsville Yankees 11-8. The score was tied in the first when the teams came through with six tallies apiece, but the Sailors added a seventh in the second inning and held the lead for the rest of the game.

Jamestown came from the rear to put two hits, a walk and an out-field fly together, with four Hornell errors and make them good for four runs in the eighth, winning the match 6-4.

Pitcher Phil Poole of the league-leading Lockport Cubs allowed the Olean Oilers only four hits while Lockport was snagging seven hits and bringing home as many runs for the final score of 7-2.

YORK IS TOPPED BY ALLENTOWN

(By The Associated Press)

Allentown moved into the No. 3 spot in the interstate baseball league today a half game ahead of York which has been a constant threat for the position.

Johnny Cappa's homer with one out in the ninth, two on base and the score tied at 9 to 9 gave Allentown a 12 to 9 victory over the second place Hagerstown Owls last night in Allentown's fourth straight win over the Owls.

Hagerstown took a temporary 9-8 lead in the first half of the ninth, scoring five times before being beaten back in the second half of the final inning by the Cardinals.

Meanwhile, Wilmington's Blue Rocks and the Lancaster Red Roses split a doubleheader with the Roses taking the seven-inning opener 5-3 and the Rocks the nightcap 6-1.

Mitchell Chetkovich, the Rocks' tall right hander, chalked up a new interstate league record when he struck out 15 batters in the second game.

York's White Roses and the Trenton Packers traded victories as York took the opener 5-2 before Trenton came back to take the second 6-3.
